Ann Arbor Area Board of REALTORS®

Low mortgage rates and affordable prices in January caused the total number of sales to jump 9% over a year ago, according to the Ann Arbor Area Board of Realtors®, (AAABoR), based on data from the multiple listing service. The number of properties listed for sale is down 27%. The positive trend of increased sales and decreased listings points to a more balanced market, which is a good way to start the year.

Overall, lower sales prices continue to reflect the effects of foreclosures and short sales on sales price. Total sales dollar volume is off 18% from last year at this same time, while the average residential sales price is down 32% from a year ago.

Lawrence Yun, National Association of Realtors® chief economist, said the Pending Home Sales Index shows a modest rebound. "The monthly gain in pending home sales, spurred by buyers responding to lower home prices and mortgage interest rates, more than offset an index decline in the previous month," he said. "The biggest gains were in areas with the biggest improvements in affordability."

Due to sample size, data by school district may not provide an accurate picture of activity.

The "Monthly Housing Statistics" published each month by the Ann Arbor Area Board of REALTORS® represent the housing activity of the Multiple Listing Service and not necessarily all the housing activity that has occurred in Washtenaw County. If you would like more detailed information about our statistics, please email mls@aaabor.com.

Days on market (DOM) figures are indicated only for that particular current listing. If the property was taken off the market and then re-listed, the count starts over and would not necessarily reflect the total days the property has been available for purchase since it was first made available.
